BRITISH DIRIGIBLE IS BACK HOME

BLIMP BUFFETED BY WIND; R-100 FAILS TO WIN SPEED TITLE

Dirigible Hit Bad Weather On Return Over Ocean

CARDINGTON, Wales, Aug. 16.—Somewhat the worse after her battle with the elements and moored at a slightly awry angle to her mast, Great Britain's mighty air monarch, the R-100 was back in her homeland today after a long trek across the Atlantic to Montreal, Canada.

The return trip failed to wrest the speed title for ocean crossings from the German air rover Graf Zeppelin by more than two hours. The Graf Zeppelin, following a route of approximately 4,200 miles, completed the trip in fifty-five hours twenty-four minutes, while the R-100 followed a course of some 3,200 miles in 57½ hours.

Approaching the airfield cautiously in the bright sunshine, the airship dropped its mooring cable at 11:30 a. m. (6:30 a. m. Eastern daylight time) and was slowly drawn down to the mast by a trained crew that had "stood by" throughout the night. An unexpected gust of wind offered difficulties, whipping the huge grey sides of the dirigible. The land crew tugged mightily at the landing ropes to nose her to the mast as thousands of sightseers who had flocked from afar to witness the arrival cheered them on.

The swaying airship's nose was finally aligned to the mast, thirteen minutes after it hovered over the field, but a playful flip from the wind just as the mooring clamps were attached left the giant craft swinging at her mast with the keel at a slightly uneven angle.

Three rousing cheers apparently intended as reward for the land crew came from the R-100's crew as the motors ceased their roar and the ship was safely locked in. Police and guards posted in profusion around the airfield strove with might and main to keep the surging, shouting and cheering crowd from rushing to the mast.

As soon as the motors stopped, the dirigible's gangway was lowered and its officers and passengers disembarked. At the top of the mast platform they were greeted by Lord Thomson of the air ministry, who shook hands with commander R. S. Booth.

Seven minutes after the mooring a telephone system had been connected with the airship and newspaper correspondents aboard were in connection with London offices. The British air ministry announced that the official time for the R-100's return trip was fifty-seven hours thirty minutes, fixing departure from St. Hubert's field at 9:32 p. m. Wednesday Eastern daylight time.

Commenting on the return trip, Wing Commander Colmore said: "We had no trouble whatsoever on our way back Thursday night with heavy rain and some headwinds. Later we picked up a tail wind with a smattering of low clouds. The ship behaved splendidly the entire trip despite bad weather. The reception we received in Canada was simply marvelous."

PLAN DROUGHT RELIEF IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 16.—Plans for the relief of drought-stricken farmers of Ohio will be discussed at a conference here Tuesday afternoon between Governor Myers, J. Cooper and members of the farm credits and drought relief committees recently appointed by Frank B. McMillin, president of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, it was announced today.

George B. Chandler, secretary of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, is in receipt of the following communication from the governor:

"I have some very definite plans in mind as a result of the conference I attended in Washington and other conferences which I have held with farm leaders, bankers and others who have given the agricultural situation a great deal of thought.

"I shall be pleased to meet with the groups which you folks have set up and I hope that we may work together for the common good of the farmers who have been so sorely stricken by the unprecedented drought."

HOUSE DESTROYED

CLEVELAND, Aug. 16.—Fire of unknown origin early today destroyed the $5,000 home of Claude Beech, president of the painters' union. Beech and his family were not at home when the fire started on the two-story structure. Fire Chief F. F. Heiser advanced the belief that the blaze was of incendiary origin.

LINER IS REPORTED SINKING; 300 ABOARD WILL ABANDON SHIP

SAW SLAYING

Vera Wallace, 24, above, sweetheart of Danny Vallo, Chicago gangster, is snapped as she was questioned by police at Niles Center, Ill., where Vallo was ambushed by gunmen and killed. The girl and Vallo had just come out of a Niles Center store when shot-gun slugs mowed him down.

GREAT LAKES LINER LOADED WITH BOOZE HELD DURING PROBE

Liquor Worth Million Seized As Vessel Was Unloading

DETROIT, Aug. 16.—The $1,000,000 liquor ship, the 200-foot British steamer "Vedas," today was tied to the police docks at Windsor, across the Detroit River from here, while Canadian officials sought to determine the exact status of the Great Lakes liner.

Meanwhile United States coastguard cutters, more than thirty-five in number, spread a blockade from Detroit to Toledo to thwart any attempt to smuggle liquor into this country.

The cargo of the Vedas consisted of between 10,000 and 15,000 cases of liquor and beer, worth approximately $1,000,000 in United States bootleg prices.

Canadian authorities boarded the ship off West Sister Island in Lake Erie late yesterday when the boat allegedly was in the process of unloading. The cargo, authorities charged, was being transferred to small powerful speed boats. Coastguardmen said that some of the cargo may have been "run" into this country.

The crew of twenty-six surrendered without resistance and named the steamer to Windsor. Officers of the boat claim clearance papers from a Newfoundland port.

United States coastguardmen said that if the ship was given clearance, it would lead to the establishment of a "rum row" in Lake Erie. They described it as the boldest attempt to smuggle liquor into the country since the advent of prohibition.

TO USE MACHINES

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 16.—A contract to supply Allegheny County with 1,000 voting machines for use in elections was voted on here yesterday by County Commissioners Joseph G. Armstrong and E. V. Babcock. They voted to award the contract for making the machines to the Poole Engineering Co., of Baltimore.

The Poole company bid was $1,120 per machine. Several other companies offered bids.

Steamer Rushed To Scene; Heavy Sea Menaces Crew

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Aug. 16.—Passengers and crew of the crippled steamer Tahiti have donned life belts and are standing by awaiting the order to abandon ship, Central News dispatches received here stated.

Desperate efforts are being made to stem the inrush of water through the open propeller tube, according to the reports. The S. O. S. messages are becoming weaker every moment.

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Aug. 16.—The royal mail liner Tahiti which left here for San Francisco Tuesday with approximately 300 persons aboard was reported sinking today 644 miles south of Raratonga in the Cook Islands.

Radio messages received from the ship's captain and later wireless communications stated that preparations were being made to abandon the ship, with a heavy sea running.

The Tahiti lost her starboard propeller, according to advices, and water is rapidly pouring in through the propeller tube.

Two steamers, advised by the ship's captain of his distress, are rushing to the Tahiti's aid from the Samoa region but it was impossible for them to reach there before Monday. They are the S. S. Ventura and the steamer Tofua.

The Tahiti, besides a cargo of mail and a crew of 150, had a passenger list of approximately 165 when she cleared port here. She was due in San Francisco on August 29, having left Sidney on August 6 and Wellington Tuesday. The Tahiti, twin screw steel liner, is one of the largest operating between San Francisco and the South Pacific. She is 460 feet long with a 55-foot beam. Built in Glasgow in 1914, formerly known as the Port Kingston, she is registered in London and flies the British flag.

From messages received it was estimated that the ship has been tossing on the Pacific since Thursday night. Few vessels ply that particular neighborhood.

THREE KILLED IN GANGLAND FEUDS

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Gangland murder squads were blamed today for the murder of three men and wounding of a fourth in two separate attacks.

In the first shooting two assassins trapped three men in a second floor office and shot to death Pietro Morallo, 50, and Joseph Perrano, 26, and wounded Gaspari Pollaro 40.

Shortly after a woman put Benjamin Prince, 30, on the spot through a telephone call.

Morrello was a half-brother of Ciro Terranova, known as the "artichoke king" and a wealthy Italian leader.

Police said all the shootings were caused by internal rows among racketeering gangs. Pollaro, removed to a hospital, told the police:

"It's a private fight and its been going on for months."

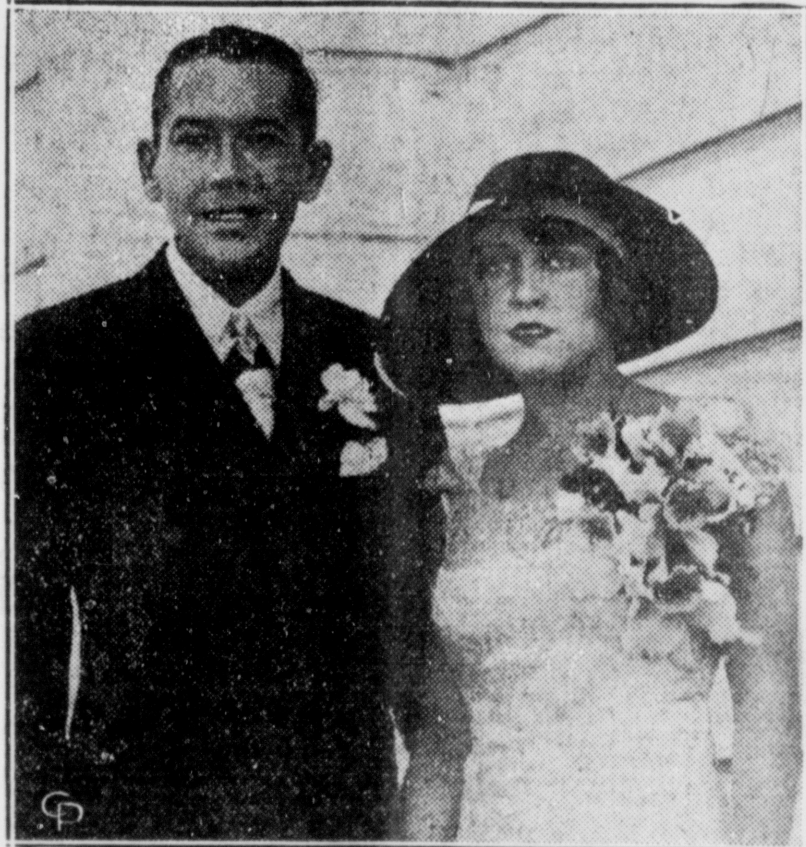

He said he was talking business with Morallo and Perrano when two men entered and fired without warning.

DEMOCRATS TO MEET NEXT SEPTEMBER

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 16.—Indications today were that the Democratic state platform convention will not be held here until the first week of September. Some Democratic leaders had recommended August 26 as the convention date. It was later discovered, however, that under the new state election code, chairmen of the county central and executive committees may not all be selected before August 27. In view of the fact that the state fair will be held during the last week in this month, a number of Democratic nominees were in favor of postponing the convention until September.

No date has been set yet for the Republican state convention.

JACK PICKFORD AND HIS BRIDE

This photo of Jack Pickford and his bride, the former Mary Mulhern, ex-Pollies girl, was taken just after they were married, at Seaside church, Monterey County, California. Pickford's first wife was the late Olive Thomas and the second was the dancer, Marilyn Miller.

BELIEVE MAN WHO CONFESSED TO BUCKLEY MURDER IS DEMENTED

DETROIT, Aug. 16.—Police today expressed the opinion that Edwin Miller, 28, who created a veritable sensation by walking into the police station at Stryker in Williams County Ohio, and making the admission that "I killed Jerry Buckley," was demented.

Returned to Detroit by detectives, Miller insisted that he was hired to shoot down the radio announcer.

"I did it alone. A man walked up to me, gave me a gun and offered me $25 to kill Buckley, whom he pointed out."

Buckley, who nightly attacked activities of gangland through his microphone at Station WMBZ, was shot down in the lobby of the LaSalle Hotel here last election night by three gunmen who pumped eleven bullets into his body.

Miller, in declaring that "I did the job alone," was unimpaired of the fact that witnesses said three gunmen participated in the slaying. Police Commissioner Thomas Wilcox pointed out that Miller could not have fired eleven bullets.

BELIEVE 42 IN MINE ARE DEAD

PRINCETON, N. C., Aug. 16.—Forty-two men were still entombed in the Blakeburn coal mine today, and it is the opinion of mine officials that all of them were dead.

Rescue workers who had been battling through debris and coal in the tunnel leading to the point where the men were working at the time of the blast were withdrawn late yesterday.

When smoke was seen coming from the depths of the mine it was belatedly another explosion might occur and endanger the lives of the men working in the tunnel.

Mine officials concluded last night that none of the miners could have survived the carbon monoxide gases even if they had not been killed by the explosion.

SALOON FOR SALE

JERSEY CITY, Aug. 16.—Aft-Jer a business firm advertised in a newspaper that it wanted to sell a perfectly good saloon with "no liquor difficulties, catering to a select trade," County Prosecutor E. O. West got busy today. He said he would investigate the proposed sale and threatened arrests for violation of dry laws.

PRESIDENT TURNS ATTENTION TO AVIATION

PRESIDENTIAL CAMP, RAPIDAN RIVER, Va., Aug. 16.—In the cool of his Blue Ridge Mountain week end retreat, President Hoover undertook today to bring himself up to date on the progress of aviation in America, its needs and its possibilities for still further expansion.

Assembled around him at camp, and prepared to give him the benefit of all their experience and observations, were some of the outstanding figures in the field. As his week end guests, the President had

BANK DEPOSITS INCREASE IN OHIO DURING LAST THREE MONTHS, SHOWN

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 16.—An increase of $29,413,830 in deposits in Ohio's 678 state-supervised banks during the three-months period ending June 30, despite the industrial depression and crop failures, was shown in a statement made public today by State Bank Superintendent O. C. Gray.

Gray's statement, which disclosed the condition of these banks as of June 30 placed the total resources of the banks at $2,403,198,256, compared with $2,407,834,960 on March 27. This situation is considered to be unusually favorable in view of the abnormal economic disturbances prevailing generally, Gray said.

The combined deposits increased from $1,965,357,785 to $1,994,771,615 between March 27 and June 30. Of the various classes of deposits, the largest gain was in individual deposits which increased from $522,250,301 to $564,672,241, an increase of $42,421,940.

HOOVER'S DROUGHT RELIEF PROGRAM TO AID SIXTEEN STATES

Border Area Will Benefit Also From Federal Help

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Although rains have brought cheer throughout the nation's great agricultural regions and other showers are in prospect, President Hoover's program of drought-relief through federal, state and local cooperation may be expanded to include at least sixteen states.

Mr. Hoover today awaited definite requests from governors of several states on the fringe of the drought area. Inquiries at the White House indicated that formal requests would be forthcoming.

While the department of agriculture attempted to define limits of the hardest hit areas as a basis for the presidential plan, it is admitted many bad situations exist in states not represented at the governors' conference.

The full story of the drought has not yet been told in southern states. Unfavorable weather, it is said, may necessitate relief action being taken in at least three southern states which hope to solve their own problems.

Advancement of allotments of federal aid road funds and the offer of the war department to turn artillery ranges over to Virginia farmers for pasturage constituted the first concrete acts since the governors' conference.

The federal farm board was considering the appeal of Governor Erickson of Montana for aid in saving thousands of head of cattle and sheep. Either feed must be imported or the livestock exported to other states with good pastures. Erickson urged the farm board to buy the cattle outright, through subsidiary agencies, feed them and market them.

The loan problem, which has aroused critical comment from some governors, will be reconsidered by the federal government.

As soon as state drought-relief committees are named, President Hoover will invite the banking representatives on the committees to come to Washington and confer with the farm loan systems.

Representations have been made to the administration that a more liberal loan policy must be adopted if these agencies are to aid the farmers.

In the meantime, close watch was being maintained by government agencies on price fluctuations with a view to preventing profiteering. The department of agriculture again issued a reassuring note to housewives who see famine ahead.

The movement of fresh fruits and vegetables to market this season compares closely with last year and reflects only the usual seasonal changes, although the drought has reduced prospects for potatoes and sweet potatoes, it was said.

WEATHER DELAYING ROUND WORLD TRIP

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Unfavorable weather conditions may postpone the takeoff of Ted Lundgren of his round-the-world flight until next week, the California flyer indicated today. He planned to hop for Old Orchard, Me., and thence to Berlin but weather reports told of a storm over the Atlantic.

Lundgren said he did not think he would start today but if the local weather is favorable he said he might fly to Old Orchard and wait there for better weather over the ocean.

Another angle of aviation in which the executive is quite interested is the science of mapping and lighting air routes. Today, he sought the advice of Col. Lindbergh and the aeronautics secretaries about applying the government's principles of water navigation to the air in more comprehensive fashion.

Mrs. Hoover arrived in camp this morning accompanied by Allan Hoover, her son. Mrs. Lindbergh was at camp also in company with her famous husband.

JUDGES AND POLICE INVOLVED; WILL BE FORCED TO EXPLAIN

Papers Purport To Show Dealing With Gang Leader

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—Judges, political leaders and police officials today were asked to explain the appearance of their names on cancelled checks, notes and other documents found in the seized financial records of Jack Zuta, murdered "business manager" of the north side gang.

Pat Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney, who discovered the records in Loop safety deposit vaults planned to question the men named. Such questioning, he indicated, would be preliminary to any grand jury action.

Zuta, who was assassinated two weeks ago, after he is believed to have paid the murderer of Alfred ("Jake") Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter who was murdered June 9, was a big business man in the underworld. His enormous financial operations—one balance sheet showed that the north side "mob" did a weekly business of more than $400,000—made it necessary for him to keep records as complete as those of a legitimate corporation.

Some of the men whose names appear in this record as the supposed recipients of payments from the slain vice baron, and who are to be questioned are:

Joseph W. Schulman, for the last nine years a judge of the municipal court, whose name appears on cancelled checks and notes totaling $5,500.

George Van Lent, former state senator and one time political power on the west side.

Emanuel Eller, former judge of the municipal and superior courts, and son of Morris Eller, boss of the twentieth ward.

Louis I. Fisher, attorney and brother of Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher.

Richard J. Williams, sergeant of police.

Zuta's records run back more than nine years, to the time when he was an obscure keeper of disorderly houses on the west side.

The first time Judge Schulman's name appears in them is on a note for $1,000, dated Dec. 21, 1921, payable in three months and signed and endorsed in blank by Judge Schulman.

Similar notes for $500, dated May 22, 1922, and for $1,500 dated Aug. 15, 1922 were found, as were

YOUTH WALKS HOME AFTER LONG SEARCH

PAINESVILLE, O., Aug. 16.—After a posse of deputy sheriffs and nearly 100 Boy Scouts had scoured the countryside for a day in search for him, Clarence James, 14, of Cleveland, was back at the home of his grandfather, Sam Bond, in Concord, near here today.

The youth walked into his grandfather's home last night after being missing since 11 o'clock Thursday morning. He told relatives that he had decided to make a trip to California, his former home, but turned back when he was unable to obtain food. Clarence, an orphan, has been spending his vacation at his grandfather's home.

FARMER KILLED AND SISTER ATTACKED

EATON, O., Aug. 16.—Search was made today for the two unidentified young men who shot David Toney, 65, farmer, to death and beat his sister, Sarah Toney, 70, at the Toney home on a farm ten miles southeast of Eaton Friday afternoon.

After beating Miss Toney, the men tied her arms and feet, threw her on a davenport and then started ransacking the house.

Toney, who had been working in the fields, entered the home, the murders fired, Toney falling in the kitchen doorway, fatally wounded.

The young men made their getaway while Miss Toney was freeing herself from the bonds.

NATIONAL GUARD ENDS ENCAMPMENT

CAMP PERRY, O., Aug. 16.—The summer training sessions of the Ohio National Guard were to come to an end here today, when the troops of the 73rd Infantry brigade complete a two-week period.

The troops will leave for home tomorrow. The camp will be taken over next week by U. S. Infantry units which will make preparations for the national rifle matches to be held here the latter part of the month.

CAN'T LEAVE STATE

Except on Sunday, Governor Flen D. Sampson, top of Kentucky, a Republican, rarely leaves the state, a gubernatorial confere declares, for when he does depart the lieutenant governor, James Breathitt, Jr., below, Democrat, can make numerous appointments.

"Last time Sampson left," a fellow governor avows, "though Kentucky colonels were appointed to last a lifetime." That's the explanation for Gov. Sampson's failure to attend President Hoover's drought conference.

TWO PEN PRISONERS DETAINED IN PROBE OF OHIO HOLOCAUST

Convicts Believed To Have Knowledge Of Fire Cause

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 16.—Suspected of knowing something about the cause of the Ohio Penitentiary fire which, on Easter Monday night, April 21, resulted in the death of 320 prisoners, Bernard K. Campbell and James H. Yeager, Cuyahoga County prisoners, were being held today in the central police station.

Although not technically under arrest, the two men were being detained while investigators of the state fire marshal's office question them.

Ever since the night of the holocaust, the state fire marshal's office has been conducting a probe based upon the theory that the fire was of incendiary origin and was started by convicts.

The fire broke out in the I. and K. cell blocks, about 4:30 p. m., which were being rebuilt by prison labor. One rumor was that convicts started the blaze by means of a long taper, or wick, strung from oil-soaked forms which were used in making concrete blocks for cell walls.

The plotters, according to the rumor, intended that the fire should break out about 4 p. m. when the prisoners were out of their cells, some in the prison yard and others going to the dining hall.

It was planned that the prisoners should escape over the prison walls by using the firemen's ladders, according to the rumor.

OLD PHOTOS IMPORTANT IN MOONEY PARDON HEARING

ENGLISH GIRL TO RACE GAR WOOD

Church and State at Marconi Baptism

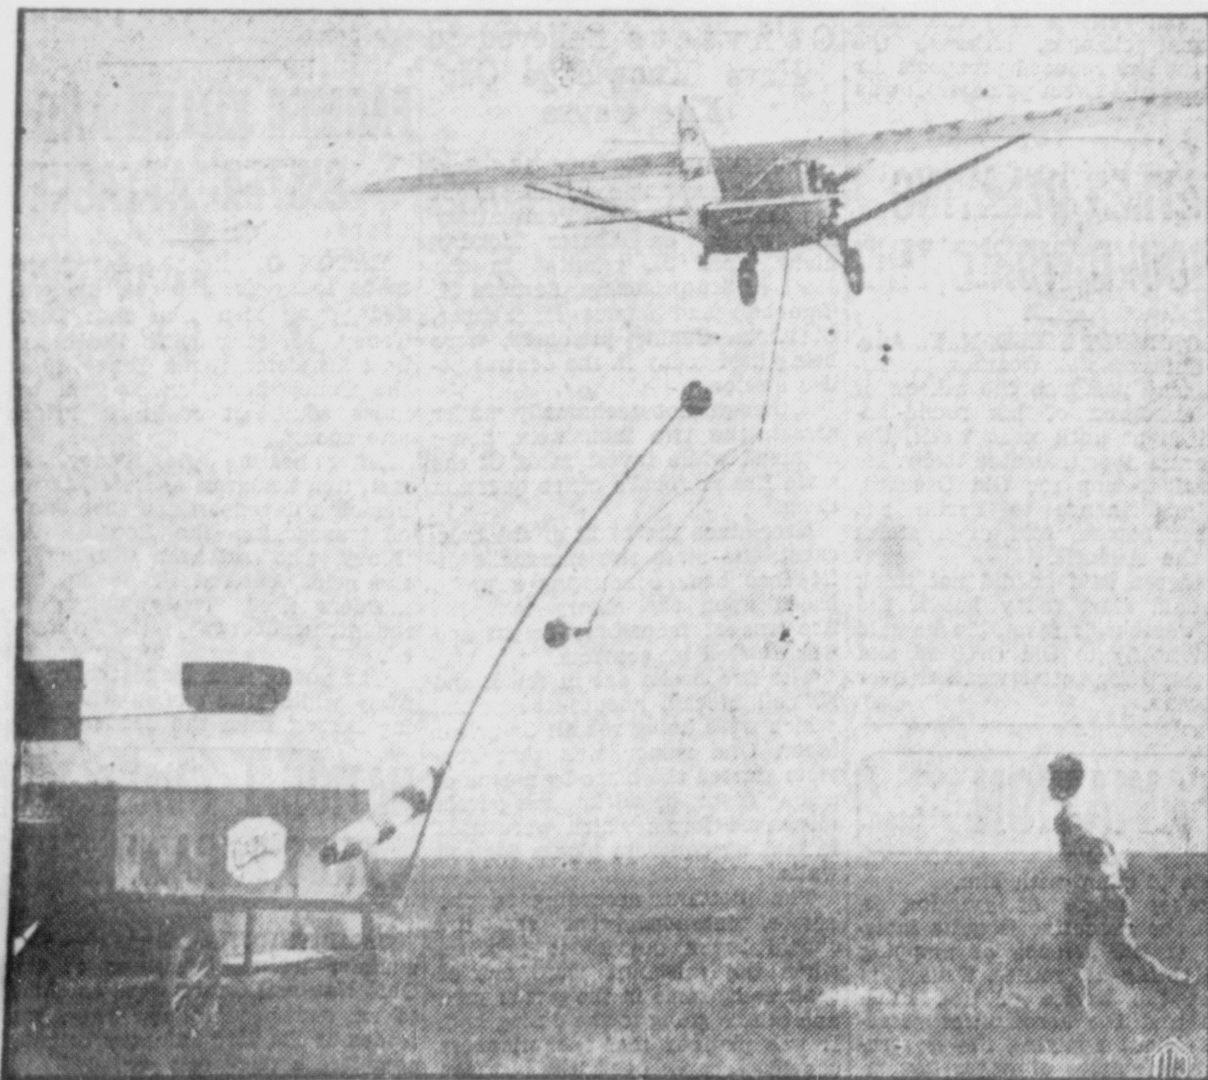

These photos, exhibits now before the state supreme court, recall the Preparedness Day parade, on July 22, 1916, in San Francisco, during which 10 persons were killed by a bomb explosion for which Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings were sentenced to life imprisonment. They show the scene where the explosion occurred, at Steuart and Market streets, arrow points to hole in brick wall caused by the blast; picture introduced as evidence during the trial, purporting to prove that Mooney and his wife were watching the parade from a roof at the time of the explosion, blocks away; and Mrs. Mooney walking up the state department steps to attend a recent hearing wearing the dress she wore in 1916 for purposes of identification by witnesses now being heard by the supreme court.

READY FOR TACOMA-TOKYO HOP

Convinced that his ship is not fast enough, Lieut. Harold Bromley has decided to abandon his non-stop flight from Tacoma, Wash., to Tokyo. Instead, he plans to stop at the Aleutian islands to refuel. Bromley has made three attempts to take off for Japan and each time has met with failure. Just before Bromley was ready for the third attempt, recently, his test pilot was killed as he gave the ship a preliminary tuning-up. Bromley is at right, above, with his navigator, Harold Gatty.

ACE FARM GIRL PRACTICES CRAFT

Here is Dorothy Marshall, last year's champion girl farmer, practicing for the best-all-around-farm-girl-in-America contest which will be held Sept. 12 to 21 at the county fair at Pomona, Cal. The contest will include all kinds of farm work.

MERCHANTS PLAN TO DISCUSS NEW LIGHT
RATES HERE MONDAY

The new proposal for commercial lighting rates here offered the city by the Dayton Power and Light Co., will be discussed at a meeting of the Xenia Retail Merchants Association following a dinner starting at 6 o'clock Monday evening at the Elks' Club.

The meeting was called Saturday on the invitation of Dr. F. M. Chambliss, president of city commission, in order that the commission may have the benefit of the opinion of the merchants in handling the new proposal.

The rate proposal represents a new chapter in the controversy between the city and the utility over a new franchise in which the city is insisting upon a substantially lower rate. The first chapter was written several weeks ago when city commission, at the instance of the merchants association, launched the first steps toward municipal ownership of the electric distribution system in Xenia with a view to forcing lower rates by permitting competitive bidding for service.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

A STARTLING DEMAND—And another of his disciples said unto him, Lord, suffer me first to go and bury my father. But Jesus said unto him, Follow me; and let the dead bury their dead.—Matthew 8:21, 22.

THE CHOICE OF TEACHERS

The weeks preceding the opening of a school year are a time of great activity in educational circles, in the choice of teachers for the schools. Teaching forces do not stay put. The schoolmarm is constantly getting married, and if they don't get married, then some superintendent from a larger place comes and dangles more money in their sight and away they go. It is some proposition to be a superintendent or school board man in these days, with these changes coming so frequently.

The requirements for teachers are steadily rising. Country schools in many states used to have astonishingly low standards for them. The city that formerly required only a high school training, may be demanding college graduates now. Courses in normal schools are considered essential in an increasing number of places.

Teaching is a science like anything else, and those who are to practice the profession need to know the technical principles on which it is based.

Yet no theory can take the place of a certain quality of personal magnetism. There are many old fashioned teachers who never saw the inside of a college or normal school, sometimes not even of a high school, yet who as the saying goes, "had a way" with children. Somehow, the kids would stop their fooling and listen when the teacher began to talk. They were interested. She incited their ambition. They wanted to learn.

A personal gift like that is invaluable, and is likely to be worth more than years of study by people who lack it. If modern education makes any mistake, it is in emphasizing mere scholarship too much, and failing to take due account of a teacher's power for inspiring the pupils. Unless a teacher can stir them up and make them want to work, the scholarship of books and learning is apt not to go very far.

SATISFACTION OF HOME OWNING

The cost of building a home has fallen considerably in the country at large, so that now would seem to be a very favorable time for people to set out to own their own homes. A home bought at a fair price is a money saver, since home owners perform certain services for themselves, instead of paying a landlord to do these things for them. A considerable share of the money formerly paid in rent, will go toward the ownership of the home, and therefore represents a direct saving of money.

A feeling of contentment comes over people as they settle down on a property of their own, and feel that they can not be forced to move because the landlord can get more rent or for other reasons.

Every time they plant a shrub or improve a defaced room with paint, they add a touch of finish and beauty that makes the dwelling seem more like a real home nest. People who fail to obtain these satisfactions miss something out of their lives.

THE EFFICIENT YOUNG FOLKS

The young crowd may be restless, pleasure loving, and hard boiled, but their elders are inclined to admit that they, or many of them, are amazingly efficient. After coming in contact with a number of her young relatives, a lady remarks that those girls who have just graduated could become president of a college and run it rather well. Nothing seems too big for them.

The old timers may growl because it takes so much to keep these youngsters going. They grow about the days when they longed for a bicycle but couldn't get it, while now many girls obtain an automobile as a present on the day that they become competent to operate it. The old saying is, "the tools to him who can use them." But they should not be over confident. There are some quirks in human nature that they have not yet fully learned.

CEREMONY

Anybody who doesn't believe in ceremony and ritual, whether in church or other service, doesn't know much about the reaction of the human being. In the normal man there is a sense of rhythm, a sense of beauty, a sense of wonder and imagination. Ceremony and ritual appeal to him. They leave impressions that are deep. Some very modern folk deny ceremony and ritual in church service. And yet the average of us would get more out of church, rather than less, if the services were more ceremonial.

RADIO POPULARITY

The single biggest reason for radio popularity is not what you hear over the radio, but the fact that you can turn off whatever you don't like. There is a certain sweet element of revenge in that privilege. You can kill bores so quickly and easily on the air.

READIN' AND WRITIN'

This column writer gets letters from men and women who are impatient and unhappy because what they write does not get into print, and hence cannot be read. Would-be writers often feel magazines and book publishers are not interested in finding new talent. They think only those with well-known names can get any attention. Of course this is not the case. Magazine editors and book publishers love to make new finds. If you think you can write, be patient. Keep your work in the mails going from magazine to magazine, publisher to publisher. If you are good, some day you will land. It is said Ben Ames Williams, very popular American fiction writer, wrote stories for eight years before he had one accepted.

If you have a story to tell there are thousands who will leap to read it. Perhaps you never heard of Erich Remarque before he sat down and wrote "All quiet on the Western Front." But he had a story to tell. He told it simply, without flourish. One million copies in the German language were sold in a little over a year. France, England and America together took care of more than a million copies in translation. And then it was translated into Swedish, Norwegian, Danish, Spanish, Polish, Yiddish.

FACTS AND NOT-FACTS

We live so much on legends and traditions and so little on real facts. Most of us, for example, think Iceland is very cold. Well, in many parts of Iceland the temperature rarely gets below 30 degrees above zero. The summers are nice and mild. Iceland, by the way, doesn't get its name from the fact that it is very cold there. It takes its title from a high peak, ice-capped, which is the first thing you see when approaching the island.

CENTRAL PRESS WASHINGTON BUREAU

Answers to questions of information and fact can be obtained by writing to Central Press Bureau, P. O. Box 126, Washington, D. C., and enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. No answers will be given to marital, medical or legal questions.

Please complete the quotation: "Though the mills of the gods grind slowly, etc." Who wrote it? The quotation is: "Though the mills of God grind slowly, yet they grind exceeding small; Though with patience He stands waiting, with exactness grinds He all."

This is from the poem "Retribution," by Friedrich Von Logau (1604-1655).

Inauguration Day

Who is president from midnight of March 3, when the term expires, to the hour on March 4 when the president-elect takes the oath of office?

No provision of the law appears to have specific application to this situation. However, Chief Justice John Marshall in a letter of Feb. 20, 1821, to a distinguished inquirer, stated that some interval of time was inevitable but that undoubtedly, on any pressing emergency the president might take the oath in the first hour of March 4, but that it had never been thought necessary, and the incoming president has always named such hour as he deemed most convenient. Justice Marshall also stated that if any circumstances should render inauguration inconvenient on March 4, and the public business would sustain no injury by the delay no impropriety is perceived in deferring it until March 5. Moreover, it always is assumed that a public servant holds office until his successor has qualified.

Women Jurors

In what states are women forbidden to serve on criminal or civil juries?

Women do not serve on either criminal or civil juries in Alabama, Arizona, Connecticut, Florida, Idaho, Illinois, Maryland, Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, New Mexico, New York, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia or Wyoming. In Idaho women served on juries until the court ruled the enabling act unconstitutional.

Perpetual Thunderstorms

How many thunderstorms occur daily in the world?

The British air ministry reports that there are about 16,000 thunderstorms a year on earth. That means that there are 1,800 thunderstorms in progress every minute. The air ministry makes observations from 3,000 stations located all over the earth. In the tropics it is stated that distant thunder is so common that the observer may not be aware of its occurrence. Java is probably the most thundery region of the earth.

LIFE'S LITTLE IRONIES

NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.—Last week I encountered my old friend, Barney, the "dip." Our acquaintances date back many years. I was in quest of a "Sunday story" and had gone over to interview him, during one of his periodic sojourns in the Tombs. We took a liking to each other and the contact has been mutually satisfactory.

Just why Barney persists in picking pockets—other than the fact that it nets him a handsome income—I'm unable to say. He's such a decent sort in every other way. I was astonished to see him in New York during the heated term. As befits an arduous and artistic "dip," who labors through the Autumn, Winter and late into the Spring, he lazes the long Summer in a well-appointed camp in the Adirondacks.

His sister, with whom he summers, and who, by the way, is the custodian of his money, became worried last Spring about Barney's "soul." She wondered where all the dough was coming from that her brother entrusted to her. Knowing his temperament and his constitutional distaste for labor of any sort, she questioned him closely as to the source of his income. Barney's replies were evasive; and fearing the worst, she took her problem to the local clergyman in the nearby Adirondack village.

The clergyman was erecting a new kirk. He divested his mind of material concerns long enough to harken attentively to his troubled parishioner and then said he:

"If you have any scruples about the money, why not give it to the Lord in the shape of a set of stained-glass windows for the house of worship we are erecting?" Thus it happened that all of Barney's hard-earned "Fall guy dough," went into stained glass and, instead of lazing all Summer in flannels, he was in the greenward, listening to the birds, the Eminent Chooser has had to go on "dipping" through the Dawg Days.

COUZENS' BOLDNESS OF OPINION BRINGS HIM SUPPORT OF LIBERALS

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—"If the capitalist system is to endure (and this country seems to be committed to it)," Senator James Couzens of Michigan said to me some time ago, "it has got to find a satisfactory answer to the unemployment question."

Can anyone fail to sense in this remark a touch of skepticism concerning the system's everlasting reliability?

"If capitalism is to endure!" Pray, does the senator mean to imply that there is any doubt about it?

TRUE, THE Wolverine statesman recognizes that it is the economic system to which our country appears to be definitely committed.

However, the more irrevocably we are committed to it, the worse it would be for us (wouldn't it?) if it were to blow up. With nothing else to serve as a substitute, wouldn't such a mischance leave us out on the end of a limb for fair?

Questions like these ask themselves automatically when an individual in as significant a position as Senator Couzens expresses himself in terms hinting at a shade of uncertainty as to capitalism's dependability.

AS A MATTER of fact, the senator so assuredly did not intend to accept responsibility for anything so strong as an out-and-out prediction of the capitalist system's collapse.

And yet (there is no dodging it) he did intend to suggest a threat. He had been working at the time for a thorough investigation of unemployment and was emphasizing his view that there must be no half-way work about it, if capitalists have a judicious regard for their own ultimate welfare.

UNEMPLOYMENT was not as bad then as later; my talk with Senator Couzens preceded last fall's market crash and the ensuing industrial pinch.

On the other hand, since then there has been something of an unemployment inquiry; also two or three laws have been passed, providing for a still deeper study of the subject; likewise a count of the country's involuntarily idle workers was made, as a detail of the current year's census.

I don't know how fully these measures satisfy the senator. It is not the unemployment situation I am attempting to illuminate in this particular connection, anyway.

WHAT I REALLY am trying to do is to give an idea of Senator Couzens' matter-of-fact boldness in voicing opinions to which the average public man would no more dare to plead guilty than he would consider it safe to admit himself a bolshevik.

"If" capitalism is to endure—et cetera. Why! when William Z. Foster says such things, there are senators who clamor for the justice department to get after him.

But Senator Couzens by common repute is the biggest capitalist in congress. When he tells capital what will happen to it unless it minds its p's and q's, there is not much to do except listen to him respectfully.

NEVERTHELESS, the conservatives don't like it. Even if they believe him, they don't like to be told such things. Probably they dislike it more in Senator Couzens than they would in William Z. Foster—

Cold Meat Platters
Olives Radishes
Sliced Peaches with Cream
Sponge Cake
Iced or Hot Tea
This kind of a menu is nice to serve when you are uncertain how many are coming for a meal. You can serve creamed or scalloped potatoes with a meat platter or potato salad, as suggested here.

Today's Recipes
Cold Meat Platters—Serving prepared meats sliced in water-like slices on a platter appetizingly garnished with a salad or dessert gives an inviting main dish for the supper or luncheon. For example, thin slices of corned beef accompanied with slices of Swiss cheese and tomatoes in its ingredients, gives a main dish the sterner sex will enjoy. Likewise tongue sliced in thin slices arranged with meat loaf and small sausages or slices of the bologna gives a savory appearance. If garnished with chopped sweet pickle placed in small cup-shaped lettuce leaves. Ham, always a favorite, needs only potato salad served in lettuce or tomato cups. Or, if preferred, it may be combined with thin slices of roast beef or roast veal.

Suggestions
Removing Ice Cream Stains
Ice cream stains are frequently a combination of cream and sugar with, perhaps, the addition of fruit juices, therefore require a dual treatment. The fat of the cream should be first removed with a grease solvent, after which the sugar and probably the coloring matter will disappear by sponging with lukewarm water.

If the material is unwashable, it will be better to use denatured alcohol for the sponging to remove sugar and fruit stains. In all stains have a soft absorbent pad under the spot when you are sponging.

Frosted Cup Cakes—One-half cup shortening, one cup sugar, four eggs yolks or two whole eggs, three-fourths cup milk, one-half teaspoon nutmeg, two cups sifted flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon ginger, one-half teaspoon allspice, one-half teaspoon cinnamon. Sift flour three times with baking powder, salt and spices. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually and well-beaten eggs. Add dry ingredients alternately with the milk. One cup of raisins may be added. Bake in a loaf pan in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 to 35 minutes, or for cup cakes bake 20 to 25 minutes in muffin tins.

Paint and Varnish Stains
Paint stains are common when days are warm. These may be removed by sponging with carbon tetrachloride and washing it later in a heavy soap suds.

If the stain is of varnish, sponge the material with denatured alcohol and then wash.

Food Needs Regulated By Appetite

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

To summarize the points we have been making this week, a balanced diet for an adult contains (a) enough nutrition which is 2,500 to 3,000 calories per day.

It has (b) enough protein, which is about 100 to 150 grams a day—an egg, a glass of milk, a helping of meat, a piece of bread or a helping of peas or beans. It has also enough salt and enough water.

It has (c) some fresh food such as milk, oranges, grapefruit, lettuce, tomatoes, lemons, limes, grapes, spinach or yeast.

It is free from harmful bacteria and parasites.

That is not only a balanced diet. It is a healthy diet. For a person who is not sick it is all we know that a healthy diet has any additions to that or any further balancings or admonitions are purely theoretical and individual expressions of opinions.

Now the natural question arises "How am I going to get such a balanced diet every day?"

To the average persons this consideration may leave him quite aghast. Is he to weight every article of food he eats every meal? Is he to look up the protein content of every foodstuff he chooses to see if it contains the proper amount? Is he to measure out his salt and water? Is he to have a bacteriologic laboratory attached to the kitchen to see that no powerful bacteria are in his food?

Certainly not. You know perfectly well nobody in good health does that, and you know they continue to be in good health. Life would be intolerable under such circumstances.

Fortunately for all of us we have several helpers which keep us straight on this. Some of them are natural forces, some belong to the industrial regulation of the world's commerce today.

First under the natural comes appetite. It is wonderful how delicately this regulates the amount of food to consume. You exercise or work hard you need more tissue. You need nutrition and more protein and—another and a better appetite played tennis today and hungry as a bear you say and effect. Or "I don't feel like to eat much supper. I just around all day." Sometimes by making you eat too much sometimes when you have by making you eat too little, in general it is a very delicate force or of your needs.

Next among the great forces are taste and smell. Everyone likes fresh fruit. Everyone likes a variety. Human meals not have developed during the history of the world into varied if people did not "crave" it. Smell generally tells you which is so contaminated as to be to eat. Not always, but often. Lastly the merchandising in general has learned to foods that are proper for a balanced diet. And also city national boards of inspection, established chemical and bacteriologic laboratories to protect you from harmful contaminations.

So the end of all our scier that if you follow your natural instincts in the matter of eating will be doing the most scientific thing.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clending cannot diagnose or give personal answers to letters from readers. Where questions are of general interest, however, they will be taken up in order in the dining room. Address your queries to Logan Clending, care of paper. Write legibly and not 200 words.)

Don't Risk Marriage With Unlove

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"DEAR MRS. LEE: I was engaged to be married a long time ago. For reasons which I shall not enumerate here our engagement was broken. It seemed that my fiancé was my ideal mate and I pictured the home that had been weaving itself in my mind since girlhood.

"Now I am engaged to be married again, but do not believe I can go through with it. I respect my fiancé, realize that he can give me a wonderful home, and know that he is anxious to do everything for me. But love is not there (on my part, anyway)."

"Will I ever feel any different? As such a long time has elapsed since my first engagement and my feelings remain the same, I have become discouraged."

WEAVER OF DREAMS
Of course, if you are sure that you do not love your present fiancé and if you should marry him, you would be constantly thinking of your former lover who should not marry, as it would be unfair to him. But are you weaving your dreams around a real man who, without doubt would have made you an ideal companion, or about a dream companion whom you merely imagine would have been ideal? Do you ever see your former fiancé? If you go not, and could manage to see him, it might settle your doubt. You would either see in him the fulfillment of the comradeship you picture, or you would see that you have not been seeing the real man at all, but have been worshipping a fantasy.

In the latter case, then possibly you would be able to enjoy the companionship of your present fiancé and decide that you could care enough to marry him. Many a happy marriage has been based on respect and congeniality.

THE ONE IN DOUBT
I heard of a girl wearing her engagement ring on her right hand. It is always worn on the left finger of the left hand from the time it is given. You merely the wedding ring on the right finger when the wedding takes place.

P. E. is another unlikable and approves of Joan's letter printed some time ago.

WONDERING KATE
Of course I don't like the idea of a girl leaving her mother and lying. In your case things worked out right. It is your mother's attitude was concerned, and I am sure now allows you to have a like other girls. She may miss you in some ways, however, realizing that you decided her once. If she does, let her you rest that she has cause to mistrust, but that you will tell the truth.

ADD SUBTLE FRAGRANCE TO BATH
By GLADYS GLAD

A delicate fragrance added to the bath is most stimulating and most refreshing in the summer time. Bath salts are preferred by many women. Others drop a bit of their favorite perfume into their bath water. Some women still persist in using talcum powder to perfume their bodies. And a number of women are becoming increasingly aware of the value of eau de cologne, which is used extensively by women on the continent.

Of all these methods of making the bath delightful, my preference is for eau de cologne or bath salts. I believe that talcum powder is the least advisable.

There is no more reliable method of refining the skin texture than frequent bathing. The purpose of the bath is to cleanse the pores thoroughly and to soften the skin. Talcum powder, applied after the bath, refills the pores with extra fat. This is not conducive to skin health. A cheap talcum can prove a real irritant, as some manufacturers use alum in their product.

Bath salts are delightful, but ordinarily we do not use them in sufficient baths to get any great benefit from the salts. The only effect that we obtain from them is an invigorating fragrance.

A pleasing fragrance can also be obtained by the addition of your best perfume to the bath water. But this is quite an expensive procedure, for good perfume cannot be purchased cheaply. And cheap perfume should never be used.

The new appreciation of eau de cologne among American women is noteworthy. In former years this bath adjunct was not accepted because the fragrance was too monotonous. Today, however, many different scents may be purchased. Also the alcohol used in the perfumeing eau de cologne is in the most healthful skin stimulant. It softens the pores, and, as you may know, one of the most liable of antiseptics. There your skin is doubly protected against germ-invasion when you use de cologne to enhance the good qualities of your baths.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES
Make-Up
Worried One: Apply a mild trisulphate to your skin before deriving your face. I think the soft peach shade of powder, orange rouge, and a light lip would blend well with your coloring.

Gain Weight
Rufus, Mabel T. and K. H.: Gaining Weight course contains in my booklet on "The New Diet" will prove most effective in developing and fattening your body. It will also add to physical health.

Hand Lotion
Marie: An excellent hand lotion can be made from glycerine, rose water. The proportions are one part of the glycerine to two parts of the rose water. Lard is excellent for chapped hands.

EDITOR'S NOTE: While it is possible for Miss Glad to answer beauty questions by mail, she is happy to send you her pattern for "The New Figure" Beauty Culture if you will write, care of this paper, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin, for each answer cost of printing and mailing. Personal questions on health will be answered through Miss Glad.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

FRAMED
by Phil

Only two home games appear on Cedarville College's 1930 gridiron chart—these being with Wilmington College and Urbana Junior College—the remaining six are on foreign fields.

Coach Marvin Borst, former Wittenberg College grid star, will direct the footballers for the fifth straight year and believes the chances for a good Yellow-Jacket eleven this fall are better than ever. At least eight and possibly more letter men are expected to be available, although plenty of veteran material was lost at last June graduation.

There ought to be some kind of a medal awarded the player who is able to negotiate the new Humpty-Dumpty miniature golf course here in par figures.

This latest midge links, situated in the rear of the Engle Floral Co., Dayton Hill, is probably the most attractive in appearance and at the same time the most difficult to make a low score on, in the entire county.

Par for the eighteen holes is forty-eight strokes. Ten of the holes are par three and the fourteenth is par four although a par five would be better.

It is necessary to use a mashie club on the thirteenth hole and both a right-handed and left-handed mashie are available with mounds to pitch the ball over a high mound and onto the green.

Cotton seed hulls are used for the greens, this being a patented composition which has proved most suitable in order that the balls will roll true.

This course, covering a large tract of ground, is sporty in every sense of the word.

Two other newly constructed baby courses in this county have been brought to our attention. They appear to be springing up all around like dandelions.

Yellow Springs has one at last, one in this village having been opened Saturday afternoon by Oscar Day. It is located directly across from Erbaugh's drug store on Xenia Ave., giving Yellow Springs residents a chance to see what the bantam game is like. It is called the Lone Oak course.

If you happen to drive past Rest Haven Park on the Dayton Pike, you will notice there is a new course on the opposite side of the pike.

One local softball championship has been decided, the winner in the American League having been determined Thursday night when Krippendorf-Dittman trounced Kiwanis-Rotary to clinch the title. Krippendorf has a two-game lead over Ki-Ro with only one more game to play with the Caddies. The Shoemakers have lost only two games in league play, one to the Caddies and one to Ki-Ro.

NON-UNION BAKERS SUFFER ATTACKS

CLEVELAND, Aug. 16.—Police today were searching for the assailants of two non-union bakers, employed at a downtown hotel where a cooks' and waiters' strike is now in effect, who were slugged as they walked near the hotel last night.

The two men attacked were John Krick, 20, and Walter Mazurek, 21. Both suffered bruises on the head and face. Police believe their assailants to be hired thugs who have been imported to terrorize persons involved in the hotel strike.

MRS. JAMES HARRIS
Correspondent
Tel. 91-R

Mrs. Muriel Shingledacker, 24, wife of Austin Shingledacker, died at her home in Cedarville Wednesday night at 12:30 o'clock after an illness of three weeks from a complication of diseases. She was a member of Zion Baptist Church, Jamestown.

Surviving besides her husband are the following children: Gloria, 5, Marilyn, 3 and Austin Jr., sixteen months. Her father, Sherman Copeland, Cleveland; a brother, Kenneth Copeland, Clifton and two foster sisters, Mrs. Rosa Greene, Jamestown and Mrs. Jessie Liggin, Xenia, also survive. A number of other relatives survive.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Zion Baptist Church in Jamestown with burial in the Jamestown Cemetery.

Miss Nina Carroll, California St., and Miss Ella Thompson, N. Fair St., arrived home after a visit of fourteen days with relatives and friends in Steubenville, Pittsburgh, Braddock, Pa. and Wheeling and Moundsville W. Va. The greater portion was spent with Rev. and Mrs. Alonzo Ware, Bellair, O.

Mr. Leroy Washington will represent the John Roan Post American Legion, August 17, 18, and 19 as a delegate to the twelfth annual convention in Cincinnati.

STATE CLERK DIES

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 16.—Funeral arrangements were being made today for Charles W. Hunsicker, 34, Columbus, chief clerk of the state bureau of motor vehicles during the past four years. Death of Hunsicker Friday night was due to heart disease. He had been ill eighteen months.

DEFEAT GRAHAMS BY NARROW MARGIN IN LEAGUE GAME HERE

Rallies In Eighth And Ninth Nearly Win For Painters

The Lang Chevrolet Co. moved a step nearer to its goal as monarch of the softball diamond in the National League this season by grinding out a difficult 10 to 9 victory over the crippled Graham Paints at the athletic field Friday night.

With two games remaining on the schedule, Langs need to win only one more to clinch the league title beyond any mathematical doubt.

Victory over Grahams did not come with much room to spare, however, and the leaders had to expend every ounce of their energy to come out on top at the finish.

Harry Williams, pitching for Langs, was handicapped by dependable support from his pals and had it not been that Grahams were also maladroited in the field, the Chevrolet nine would have gone down to an unexpected defeat.

Lloyd Downey, Graham hurler, didn't pitch bad ball, but he didn't pitch one of his best games either. Langs were blanked for the first four innings and were on the anxious seat because the Paints had gotten away to a two-run lead in the first inning by virtue of singles by L. Cope, Hurst and Briley and some indifferent fielding.

In the fifth, however, the leaders flattened Grahams for six runs, based on two errors, a walk, a fielder's choice and singles by Bell, Corb and Cain. Downey braced in the sixth only to come apart again in the seventh when Langs clustered singles by Ruse, Smittle and Corb and a double by McCoy to count four runs and boost the score to 10 to 2.

Grahams did not give up and when the Lang defense collapsed in the eighth and ninth rounds, the Paints almost but not quite overcame the eight-run lead.

With the aid of a single by L. Cope and a few misplays Grahams tallied three runs in the eighth. In the ninth with one down, Haverstick and Downey singled, L. Cope was safe on an error, W. Cope walked, Hurst popped to Williams for the second out, but Kersey singled and Briley doubled along the left field foul line. With four runs in, the tying run on third and the winning run on second, Cope, batting for McGee, was retired at first, unassisted, and Langs had squeezed through to victory by a margin too close for comfort.

Langs collected fifteen hits, Bell and Corb getting three apiece. Grahams obtained ten hits with L. Cope, Briley and McGee each getting two. Grahams were handicapped by the recent loss of two regulars, Milburn and Muterspaugh, but Haverstick caught a fine game and McGee made two hits besides catching everything that came his way in center field. ## HAGLER COLT WINS WASHINGTON PAGE

Ray Henley, promising colt owned by George M. Hagler, south of Xenia, continues to be the sensation of Ohio half-mile tracks this season.

The brown gelding was a straight-head winner in the three-year-old pace worth $300 on the closing card of harness horse meeting held in conjunction with the Fayette County Fair at Washington C. H. Friday afternoon, beating a field of five starters in ridiculously easy fashion.

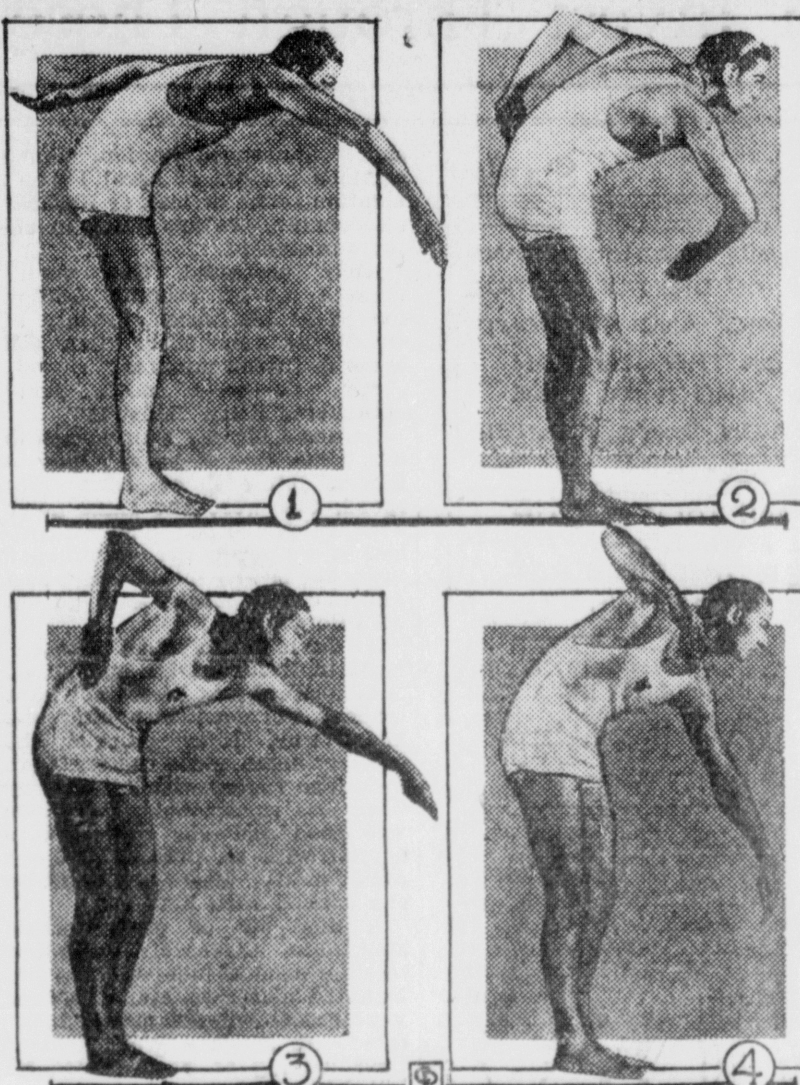

The youngster, driven by Joe Hagler, son of the owner, was not extended in the first two heats, winning in the slow time of 2:16 1-4 and 2:16 1-2 but stepped the last mile in 2:08 1-2.

Ray Henley has now won five straight races and has been a straight heat victor in each one. The juvenile capped at the Wapakoneta, Sidney, Wilmington, Xenia and Washington C. H. fairs.

GRAM SPENT $1,839

MAY SHORTEN SOFTBALL SEASON HERE; PLAN AN EXTRA SERIES

The annual city championship series between the title winners in the National and American softball leagues will not be dispensed with this year, it was decided at a meeting of team managers and the softball commission at the athletic field Friday night, but it was voted to wind up the current playing season a week earlier, if possible.

Krippendorf-Dittman Co. has already clinched the American League title but the Lang Chevrolet Co. needs another victory to clinch the National League championship.

As a result, all of next week's scheduled games will be played off. Langs meet Geyers Wednesday night and if victorious the current playing season will end next week.

However, in the event Geyers beat Langs, the scheduled Lang-Criterion contest, booked for the following week, will be played instead Thursday night next week, which is an open date.

Providing the National League winner is definitely determined next week, a three-game series between the two league champions will open Monday night, August 25. When the city championship is determined, a post-season series will be played between the city champions and an all-star team selected by the managers of the local softball teams. Fifteen players will be chosen by the managers.

The post-season series will be the best three-out of five games and an admission of ten cents will be charged for each game. Through this method the softball commission hopes that a sufficient amount of money will be raised to pay off all expenses incurred this season and leave a balance with which to help finance the sport next year.

The shortening of the present season by one week was decided upon in the interest of economy and because the hours of daylight are rapidly becoming shorter. It was decided that the championship series between the National and American League winners should not be abandoned out of fairness to the Krippendorf nine. Although the shoe company boys would be the underdogs in a series with the Lang Chevrolets, the American League winners, it was pointed out, are a greatly improved team and are entitled to a crack at the city title.

It is considered a foregone conclusion that Langs will copy the National title, but the D. T. C. Club still retains a mathematical chance to tie the leaders, and for this reason it was agreed at the meeting that all scheduled games next week should be played.

AGED MAYOR WINS; DISMISS CHARGES

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 16.—Governor Myers Y. Cooper's formal dismissal of the case against Mathew W. Stutson, 80-year-old mayor of West Jefferson, near here, was announced today at the governor's office.

Some months ago, residents of West Jefferson filed a petition with the governor asking for removal of the aged mayor on the ground that he was alleged to have been drunk and was unable to properly perform the duties of his office.

Twice the governor postponed dates for a hearing because important witnesses for the petitioners failed to appear.

Today's action is with the consent of counsel for both the mayor and the West Jefferson citizens who filed the petition it was announced.

MARY LEWIS, OPERA STAR, IS DIVORCED

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 16.—Mary Lewis, opera star, was free of marital bonds today, having been granted a divorce from Michael Bohnen, singer, after she testified her husband was temperamental and had deserted her.

The opera singer testified that her husband "slapped me, pulled my hair and threw me about the room."

Miss Lewis also told the court that she heard her husband was engaged to marry a girl in Germany. He is an acrobatic dancer and known on the stage as Lajana.

Miss Lewis said.

The decree was granted on grounds of desertion.

IDLE HOUR DEFEATS WILMINGTON TEAM BY SHUT OUT ROUTE

Bradshaw Yields But One Hit To Gallups Nine Here

Pitcher Bradshaw turned in a one-hit mound performance and the Idle Hour Club's softball team, exhibiting its best form of the season, blanked the Gallups, leading Wilmington nine, 7 to 0 in a seven-inning game on the Mulberry St. diamond Friday night.

It was a case of three up and three down for Wilmington batters in five of the seven rounds. Only twenty-three batters faced Bradshaw and it remained for his rival hurler to spoil the possibility of a no-hit game.

Hale, Wilmington pitcher, singled in the second inning for the only safety obtained by the Gallups. Hale released only five hits but these were bunched.

The Idle Hour nine scored twice in the second stanza on Anderson's double, a triple by Fields and a sacrifice fly. An error on a walk and a homer by Cockran produced three additional runs in the third and in the sixth two more runs materialized on a double by Cockran, an error and a single by Fields.

Both teams used ten players, a factor which resulted in fewer hits being made than is usually the case.

The victory was quite a feather in the cap of the Idle Hour team as the Gallups are recognized as one of the strongest if not the strongest team in Wilmington. Lineups:

Spying On Sports

by BILL RITT

Central Press Sports Editor
When William Lawrence Stripling, erstwhile King of the Canebrakes, heaves his 190-odd pounds off the trans-Atlantic liner returning from his triumphant tussle with Phil Scott, the permanently flattened subject of King George V, he will find himself a new man.

To Willie's probable amazement he will discover that he is a hero, that he is now generally regarded as the next heavyweight champion and that two great cities, Chicago and New York, are fawning over the right to be the site on which Willie will give the next exhibition of his flaccid wares.

Young Mr. Stripling will get a big laugh out of all this. But he will laugh only to himself because public display of amusement by an athlete at what the public does is not good business and Mr. Stripling has quite often proven he is a NO. 1 business man.

What will most amuse and delight the best known of all the Striplings is the fact that while only two months or so ago he was the Georgia Palooka he now is the Great American Hope. Willie knows that he is no better or worse a heavyweight now than he was in June. What then has brought about the stupendous change?

Two things. The Otto Von Porat fight. The Phil Scott fight. By pushing over a has-been and a never-was Willie has suddenly gained eminence as the heir apparent to Max Schmeling's fabled throne. This is all very mysterious to the layman, but is easily explained.

The solution of the Strange Case of Willie Stripling is this: Until very recently the prize fight promoting gentry regarded a return bout between Schmeling and Jack Sharkey as a certainty. Now it has become apparent that Maxie wants no more of the Boston Gob inside a fight ring. With Sharkey thus out of the running there has been a desperate need to find another outstanding challenger. So Stripling is elected.

There is no attempt here to disparage the prowess of young Mr. Stripling. It has long been our private opinion that Willie is a very good heavyweight, when he has a mind to be, Madison Square Garden overlooking that fact because it did not need him or thought it didn't until Sharkey faded from the picture.

Stripling, himself, seems at last in earnest in regard to making himself the next heavyweight champion. He has piled up enough of this world's goods to be independent for life, so he has nothing to lose and everything to gain by risking that precious chin of his in a forward march through the field of heavyweights straight to the throne on which reclines the All Highest of Heavyweights, Kaiser Max I.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Most of the active stocks on the big board lost ground today as the final selling wave swept downward the shares which bravely attempted to stem the tide of profit-taking and bearish hammering.

The bears launched a "drive" in Radio as the result of the unfavorable half-yearly report and forced the stock down to 38 1-8. After a short rally to close to Friday's final price Radio again reacted and closed at 39 5-8, down 1 1-4 for the day. United States Steel was a strong leader in the bullish group forcing ahead to 145 1-2 and closing at 155 3-8, up about a point.

On the whole Friday's spectacular closing spurt was ineffective either in driving off the bears or in enticing new buying demand from outside sources. The professionals were once again in control and the volume of trading slumped off.

After reaching 90 1-4, Vanadium slumped off to its closing price of 87 3-4, down 1 3-4 for the day. General Electric was down 1 1-2, at 69 3-8 and American Can fractionally lower, at 124 and Westinghouse up fractionally at 143 3-4. Transactions were slightly under a million shares.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

READ THIS FIRST:

Kitty Wilmet, secretary to Elery Goss, assists Gordon Platt, Goss' confidential man in running down a "leak" of the offices. Atlee, Goss' chief clerk, offends Kitty with too violent love making. After meeting Boss Kelliher at a party given by Hilda, blonde 'phone operator, at Platt's request she gets to know Hattie Bridges, another of Goss' secretaries, at whose house she meets Joe Fortune, of whom Kitty has heard, long in love with Sally! Kitty lists all possible suspects of the leak and determines to be active, not passive in the work for Platt. She indignantly refuses to come to the telephone on hearing Kelliher wants her.

Atlee tries to explain his insult and asks her to marry him. She does not accept. She is accosted by Boss Kelliher, who asks her to work for him for a thousand dollars a month.

Next day she meets Platt at the East Side Natatorium and defeats a professional swimmer in an impromptu race. Platt tells her a gambler, Tom Gayle, won a five thousand dollar bet on her, and lays a $1,000 bill before her as her "share."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 20

"Gordon!" His name slipped easily from Kitty's lips; she did not note the flash of pleasure in his eyes.

"You mean he bet on me? He won five thousand dollars on that little race and wants me to take this?"

Kitty stared at the yellow bill as if it were a snake.

"Tom Gayle is a gambler," explained Platt. "He'd rather win a five dollar bet than make five hundred on an investment. He'll bet on anything. A good deal of money changes hands over swimming in the East Side club. Lots of professionals swim there—like Miss Graham. That thin chap would have paid her two hundred had she won a thousand dollars for him."

Kitty stared at the bill, at Gordon, at the bill again. Then she flushed; not a pretty blush, but a deep crimson of distaste and shame.

"Oh, take it away! I don't want it! I wouldn't touch it!" she cried. "I didn't earn it; had I known I would not have received!"

Gordon picked up the bill and put it in his pocket, a great contentment in his eyes. "Atta girl!" he commented. "I told him you wouldn't take it, I'll give it back to him tomorrow!"

"I feel soiled!" cried Kitty, miserably. "Swimming has always been such a clean, sweet sport with me—my father taught me. He was intercollegiate champion; he was good, good! But to use it to make money by betting—Oh!"

She toyed with her foot, appetite gone. Gordon did not answer. He just looked at her.

"I can understand professional athletics," went on Kitty. "I have no quarrel with the man or girl who exhibits skill to the public and takes pay for it. That's open and above board. I don't want to do it—but that's just because I don't feel that way about myself! But this wasn't sporting! Why, Miss Graham had no chance!"

She looked up at him seriously. "She had no chance at all!" she repeated. "What are you smiling at? Think I'm conceited? I'm not. But she doesn't know what I know! She may be good in her class, but her motion it all wrong. I could have given her five yards and beaten her—I've robbed that thin man!"

"Oh, no!" contradicted Gordon. "You weren't a ringer!"

"An expert known only to one better!" explained Gordon. "He didn't know a thing about you, except that I said you were good. He took a chance. According to the gambler's code everything was straight and square. According to their code, you earned that money as much as you earned your salary this week. I knew you wouldn't look at it that way. I once offered you a thousand dollars—remember?"

"Yes!" agreed Kitty. "Ever since I've been in New York, people have thrust thousand dollar bills under my nose! You tried to bribe me—tonight a gambler tries to make me a party to his bet—last evening Mr. Kelliher offered me a thousand dollars a month to work for him!"

"What!"

She was not prepared for the rage in the intent face opposite her. His eyes flashed fire. His hand on the table clenched until the knuckles flashed white. His mouth set in a thin, straight line.

"Yes!" repeated Kitty. "He did, and—"

"By God, I'll kill him!" cried Gordon, hotly. "Oh, my dear, my dear! I didn't mean to run you up against that sort of evil—"

"Why, what do you mean? You had nothing to do with it!" cried Kitty. "Oh!" She blushed, sensing his meaning. "No, it was honest work he offered—or so he said. He shot!" announced Gordon. "Come on, let's get out of here! I won't mention office or leak or Kelliher all evening. We are going to enjoy ourselves!"

Kitty protested. She wasn't dressed for an evening. Gordon looked at his watch. "Plenty of time!" he announced. "Can you dress in fifteen minutes?"

"Oh, no—er—I mean, yes!" stammered Kitty. "Must I?"

Gordon's big car whirled her to her home. She dressed, it not in fifteen minutes, at least with speed. She wore the same gown with which she had gone with Atlee. It reminded her of unhappiness, but it was the best she had. And she had bought it to go out with Gordon.

He drove her to places of amusement in Brooklyn. He apologized, but explained that he did not want to have her seen with him; she knew why. Kitty enjoyed the quieter night clubs better than those she visited with Atlee; they were less garish, bold, the music was good and—she confessed to herself with an inward blush—it didn't matter where she went so she danced with him.

A new air of proprietorship about him alternately made her toss her head in independence and lean the closer to him. His eyes were possessive, not merely interested. He spent a great deal of time looking at her. Twice he called her Kitty.

He took her home at one in the morning. She sat close to him as he drove. His heart was touched; Kitty was as sure she was right about Gordon as she had been sure about Atlee. However, she didn't think of that now.

At the doorway, he held her hand for an unnecessarily long minute. "I'll not forget to give Gayle back his thousand!"

She climbed thoughtfully to her room, a little chilled.

Would Gayle bet a thousand dollars on the prowess of a girl he had never seen swim? Or had Gordon made the bet, and, seeing her disposure, put the responsibility on Gayle?

She caught her breath. They had called him a gambler! (TO BE CONTINUED)

JUDGES AND POLICE INVOLVED; WILL BE FORCED TO EXPLAIN

cancelled checks for $500, dated Feb. 21, 1922, and $1,000, dated Aug. 15, 1922, signed by Zuta and payable to and endorsed by Schulman.

There was also a check memorandum of the West Town State Bank, dated Dec. 29, 1925, stating that a check made payable by Schulman to Zuta had been returned by the judge's bank, unpaid.

Judge Schulman was reached by the International News Service at his summer home at South Haven, Mich. He said, when asked about the checks and notes:

"I never had any business transactions with Zuta. He never appeared in my court, although I had seen him and knew who he was. In 1921 I was buying a home and was pressed for money. I got some funds from Attorney Maurice I. Green, who took over my office when I was elected to the bench. I don't remember where he got the money which he gave me."

"I paid back the money to him later, but he did not have the notes and gave me other receipts. In 1925 I got some funds from him again, which I repaid a month later. I am coming to Chicago this morning to see Pat Poche. I will be glad to go before the grand jury."

Attorney Green, who lives at the Admiral Hotel, told a story agreeing with that of Judge Schulman. He said:

"Judge Schulman sometimes borrowed money of me, and I borrowed from him at times, too. I was Jack Zuta's attorney for a number of years, and we were personal friends. I don't know how the notes got into Zuta's possession. I may have hypothecated them with him, but he had access to my files, as I loaned to him, and he may have taken them."

"I remember the checks in 1925. I got the money for Judge Schulman, and later Zuta told me that the check which he got in return a month later had returned. I paid him and collected from the judge."

Former Judge Eller's name appears on a check for $250 dated April 4, 1922. At that time he was conducting his campaign for election to the municipal bench. He was out of town today, but his law partner, Simon Herr, said:

"This is a clever attempt to cast poison at former Judge Eller. I am not worrying, and I know he is not. He will return to Chicago Monday and I know will be able to explain this satisfactorily."

The Theater

Mr. Herbert Brenon, the motion picture director, who is by way of being a gentleman and a scholar, sends your correspondent the following telegram, personally addressed: "I am deeply grateful and sincerely proud of the high honor you paid me, Herbert Brenon."

Thus does Mr. Brenon, at so much a word from distant Los Angeles, express his gratitude at the vote given him by this column conductor in the Film Daily's poll to select the Ten Best Directors of 1930. This department picked Mr. Brenon third on the list, because of his work with Winifred Westover in "Lummock" and he finished in seventh place in the nation-wide poll. Your correspondent is still awaiting telegrams of gratefulness from the nine other directors he chose, and especially from Mr. Lionel Barrymore, whom he selected for first place, dog-gone it.

E. B. Derr, president of Pathe, believes he has solved the trouble, some British Quota Law, which requires that English theaters show home-produced pictures for at least 7 1/2 per cent of their running time, provides that only one American actor and that the director must be an Englishman.

Mr. Derr will take Ann Harding, Constance Bennett, Helen Twelvetrees and William, all established stars, to London to make four pictures. Since they must have an English director an American director will be placed over him with the title of producer.

Paul Stein, who is well known abroad, will be the first of these especially created producers and upon his return Pathe will send E. H. Griffith while Tay Garnett will be the third. It also is planned to hire Spanish and German actors to make foreign versions over there. Mr. Derr has big plans for Pathe and his grand comedy

"Holiday" proves he knows whereof he speaks.

Constance Bennett has been on a holiday herself, but she will star in "Sin Takes a Holiday," a story by Robert Milton, the director and Robert Cairns, before going to England.

Miss Bennett will play a secretary who marries her employer to get him out of a jam with another woman, then goes to Paris, emerges from her business-girl cocoon and returns to a startled husband, who falls in love with her.

Horace Jackson, who did such a slick job with "Holiday," will write the dialogue and Paul Stein will direct. The name, of course, may be changed. Pathe has already made one "Holiday" and United Artists is starring Chester Morris in a talkie version of the stage play, "Death Takes a Holiday."

DEATH REMOVES MISS MATILDA M'COLLUM ON FRIDAY EVENING

Suffering a cerebral hemorrhage Monday from which she never rallied, Miss Matilda McCollum, 84, died at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. W. McCollum, 936 N. Detroit St., Friday evening at 9:50 o'clock. Miss McCollum had been in failing health since the early part of the summer, having been ill with intestinal grip for the past two weeks. Following the attack suffered Monday she had remained in a coma until her death.

Miss McCollum was born in County Antrim, Ireland, June 10, 1846, but had resided nearly all of her life in the Clark's Run Neighborhood, east of Xenia. She was the last member of her immediate family, eight brothers and sisters having preceded her in death and since the death of her brother, John W., in 1917, Miss McCollum had made her home with her sister-in-law.

DEATH CLAIMS MISS CATHERINE DAWSON

Miss Catherine Dawson, a resident of Yellow Springs for many years, died at the Smith Sanatorium on Center College St., in that village, Friday noon. She had been an invalid for four years having received a broken hip. A few days ago she suffered a stroke of paralysis and was removed to the sanatorium Monday evening.

Miss Dawson made her home with her sister, Mrs. Oella Munch on Xenia Ave., in Yellow Springs. She has resided there for a number of years coming to Yellow Springs from Bellefontaine. She was a member of the Episcopal Church. Mrs. Munch is the only surviving relative.

Funeral services will be held at the home Sunday evening at 7 o'clock in charge of the Rev. Carl H. White, of the Presbyterian Church, and will be private. The remains will be removed Monday morning to Bellefontaine for burial.

SISTER OF XENIAN CALLED BY DEATH

Word of the death Friday of Mrs. James Scott, 89, sister of Mrs. Emma McCalmont, N. Galloway St., which occurred at her home in Burgettstown, Pa., was received by relatives here Friday. Mrs. Scott had visited in Xenia and was well-known here. Her death was due to infirmities of age.

Mrs. McCalmont was called to Burgettstown last Tuesday by the serious condition of her sister.

Mrs. Scott leaves a niece, Miss Emma McCalmont, N. Galloway St., this city, who left Saturday to attend funeral services Sunday afternoon, and two nephews, James McCalmont, Bellbrook Pike, and John McCalmont, near Trebeins.

It pays to know

WHEN you spend your money for the seven and seventy things that are always popping out of nowhere to demand a portion of your income, you want to be certain they are returning the utmost in value for your every dollar.

But how can you know the worth of the products you buy? Can you test them scientifically?

Can you make microscopic examinations for flaws and imperfections? Chemical analyses for purity and composition? Physical machine-tests for stress and strain, strength and durability? Have you laboratories equipped for this work? Can you afford the scientists and research workers to perform it?

There is a less expensive way to safeguard your purchases. A better way to buy.

Buy products that have been tested by others! Products that have passed the most ruthless and rigid of all tests . . . that of actual use! Nationally known, nationally liked, nationally used products! Advertised products!

Here, in the advertisements, are products of sound worth brought to your attention. Products manufactured to standards of certain quality, that have been tried and tested by the most exacting persons . . . people who have bought them, and used them over and over again. Products worth your money.

Get the habit of reading the advertisements. It Pays.
